
SUMMARIES

Egor A. Borisov

Republic of Sakha (Yakutia) in the Context of Russian Modernization: the Imperatives of Modern and Tradition

The article gives a comprehensive analysis of socio-economic development of the Republic of Sakha (Yakutia). The Republic is one of the leaders in the country on the planned investment projects. The priorities of the state national policy of the Republic of Sakha (Yakutia) are the preservation and development of national cultures, languages, customs and traditions of all peoples living in the Republic.

Keywords: national identity, modernization, innovation economy, multi-ethnicity, national policy, state support.

Rim M. Valiakhmetov, Natalia M. Lavrenjuk, Guzel R. Bajmurzina Modernization Potential of the Republic of Bashkortostan: Problems and Development Resources

The article is devoted to the problems and resources of development of modernization potential of the Republic of Bashkortostan in the conditions of the modern interregional competitive environment. Quantitative and qualitative parameters of level of an involvement of Bashkortostan in the modernization processes, available objective and subjective restrictions and potential opportunities for its development are analyzed in the article.

Keywords: modernization, capacity, socio-cultural modernization, the stage of modernization, innovation development.

Ljudmila A. Semenova

Socio-Professional Realities of Post-Soviet Russia: Non-Governmental Security Structures

The article discusses the formation, structure and function of a new segment of the Russian socio-professional structure – non-state security system, that emerged in the early 1990s with the advent of the institution of private property in the country.

Keywords: non-government sector security, security office, security guards, entrepreneurship, the protection of business interests, conflicts of interest.

Tamara Z. Adamyants
Sociomental Indicators of the Processes of Self-Organization and Self-Determination in Educational Establishments

The article presents the results of a comprehensive study which has allowed to obtain the sociological, socio-psychological, sociometric and sociomental characteristics of respondents. These characteristics can be used as digital indicators for the social diagnostics of self-organization and self-determination in the group (team).

Keywords: socio-mental groups, self-organization, self-determination semio-socio-psychology, the level of development of communicative skills; adequate perception; partially adequate perception; inadequate perception; views of the world; social representations.

Andrey N. Pokida, Natalia V. Zybunovskaja
Problems of Migration in Contemporary Russia

The article considers the features of migration processes in Russia and their impact on the socio-economic and socio-political relations in the Russian society.

Keywords: external migration, internal migration, immigrants, migration, migration, social tension, labor migrants, emigration moods.

Julia P. Lezhnina
Family-Demographic Behavior of the Poor and the Prerequisites for the Reproduction of Poverty

This article analyzes the behavior of the poor in the family sphere, including activities related to children and their future. It demonstrates the main features of poor families as the environment in which the high reproduction is accompanied by a low level of development of key strategies of investment in human capital.

Keywords: poverty, poverty reproduction, demographic behavior.

Evgenij N. Smetanin
The Demographic Structure of Population and Reproductive Behavior of Women

The article presents the results of studying the influence of family situations, reproductive motives and individual socio-economic factors on the reproductive behavior of women in the Kirov region.

Keywords: fertility behavior, reproductive motives, common-law marriage, material welfare, family circumstances.